AGS DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

At Access Group Solutions (AGS), we firmly believe that 'people are our greatest asset' and the heart of everything we do. That's why we're dedicated to ensuring that our operations are free from any form of exploitation or forced labour.

Fred Khoury - Founder and Managing Director

The harsh reality of modern slavery affects over 50 million individuals worldwide, with a staggering 26.5% increase since 2016, including a surge in Australia to at least 41,000 affected individuals in 2023.

This report will explore the factors that contribute to modern slavery, focusing on the operational risks within our industries and exposure within the supply chains providing products and services. It is imperative that the emphasis remains on the collaborative effort that will be required for all businesses to work towards the eradication of any violation of human rights.

Our collective responsibility is clear: to identify, educate, confront, and act against any instances of modern slavery. It is crucial to raise awareness of its various forms, such as coercion, threats, or deception, which are used to exploit victims, depriving them of their freedom and subjecting them to severe exploitation. These include human trafficking, slavery, forced labour, debt bondage, forced marriage, and child exploitation.

In the past year, AGS has made significant strides in addressing and minimising the risks associated with modern slavery in our operations. Moving forward, we remain dedicated to continually evaluating, reviewing, and improving our practices. We're committed to playing our role in supporting efforts to eliminate modern slavery within our industry and those that service it.

AGS recognises that collaboration and vigilance are indispensable for making a significant impact on modern slavery, and we express our gratitude for joining us on this journey.

- We collaborated with independent providers for workshops on Modern Award conditions and conducted Respectful Workplace training to foster inclusivity and mutual respect.
- Introduced an Independent and ASIC compliant external Whistleblower Program to enable our people to confidently speak up about any dishonesty, fraud, unsafe environments, unethical and other inappropriate behaviour or misconduct - anonymously if necessary.
- Actively participating in client-initiated audits; we consistently meet and exceed industry standards. This continuous scrutiny ensures that our practices align with the highest ethical benchmarks.
- Our strict adherence to the Cleaning Accountability Framework Principles underscores our commitment to responsible practices.

Recognising the Risks

While Australia is perceived as less susceptible to modern slavery in the Asia Pacific region, we acknowledge potential risks within our industry, including outsourced labour, and the sourcing locations of materials and production of products used.

Sector/Industry: The Australian Human Rights Commission highlights labour exploitation in the cleaning and security industries, where workers often face unpaid wages, excessive overtime, threats, and abuse.

Product/Services: Acknowledging high risk in labour services, especially with outsourced labour, due to transparency and underpayment concerns. This risk also extends to necessary products that may be imported like uniforms and equipment.

Geographical Location: Our exposure to the risk of modern slavery aligns with that of many businesses in Australia, stemming from Australia's reliance on imported products - notably in the electronics and apparel supply.

AGS staff represent a diverse array of cultures, languages and backgrounds.

All AGS personnel are engaged on a permanent or casual basis, ensuring compliance with residency status and visa holder work rights.

Direct employment maintains strong control, preventing involvement in modern slavery practices

Managing The Risks

At Access Group Solutions, we're taking proactive steps to tackle the risks associated with modern slavery. Our permanent team members are directly engaged.

To address this, we are focused on ethical recruitment practices, ensuring thorough checks on identities and work permits. By directly employing individuals, we can closely monitor payments and entitlements, reducing the risk of exploitation.

Frontline staff who are Australian citizens are working on full or part time employment contracts. The remainder are those who are foreign residents and visa holders. Access Group Solutions requires prospective staff to provide identification copies centrally through the support office for verification of visa work rights, and to ensure the individual's suitability to hold employment. Original documents are not collected or held by the organisation. The high degree of control that direct employment allows, ensures that there is no engagement with modern slavery principles.

Most of our employees work under the Cleaning Services Industry Award 2020 and the Security Services Industry Award 2020 as well as other awards. All employees have access to these Awards, and the pay guides as set out by Fair Work. They are publicly listed documents and are also displayed in staff tea rooms for easy access, along with the Fair Work Information statement.
